Abu Dhabi 2025

“ The planet is currently faced with a triple planetary crises of biodiversity loss, climate change and pollution. The IUCN World Conservation Congress 2025 will provide an ideal platform where experts can assemble to find practical and disruptive solutions to address them. The Congress will also provide an opportunity for IUCN and its network to work towards achieving Global Biodiversity Framework targets. I am very honoured that my country will once again be hosting another significant international event such as the IUCN World Conservation Congress in 2025.

Her Excellency
Razan Khalifa Al Mubarak
President, IUCN

70 years of Congress impact

Almost 1500 motions have been considered at IUCN Congresses to date.

With NGOs, governments, and Indigenous peoples' organisations voicing their opinion and voting on motions, the resolutions adopted during Congress shape tomorrow's international biodiversity policies.

International treaties with roots in IUCN Congress decisions include the Ramsar Convention on Wetlands, the UNESCO World Heritage Convention, the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora (CITES) and the Convention on Biological Diversity (CBD).

The IUCN World Conservation Congress is the largest gathering of governments, civil society, Indigenous peoples and key stakeholders - united under the vision of a just world that values and conserves nature. In Abu Dhabi, we will come together to help shape the future of conservation and our planet. The IUCN Congress is more than an event – it's a catalyst for action.

Together we will have a critical opportunity to be part of the solution that will drive lasting impact for people and nature. IUCN Members are also set to approve a bold 20-year strategic vision – looking to 2030 and beyond to build a strong and unified conservation agenda to ensure a world where both nature and humanity can thrive and prosper.

Purpose-led partnerships

By becoming a Congress Partner, your organisation can play an integral role in contributing to the action needed to reach our global goals for nature. You can also be a vital enabler of one of these key functions the IUCN Congress by providing support, expertise and services:

Youth Engagement

Facilitate worldwide youth representation, contribute to the Global Youth Summit, host events at the Youth Pavilion or in collaboration with young professionals, enable acceleration of innovative projects through the Young Changemakers programme, and more.

Innovation & technology

Provide essential hardware and software solutions to amplify the Congress' reach, including screens, smartphones, tablets, smart working stations, AI tools to facilitate communication and session updates, registrations on site, etc...

Culture & entertainment

Contribute to diversity and cultural representation at the Congress through various art forms. Spaces can be made available for exhibitions, shows, film screenings, and more.

Sport & tourism

Highlight sustainable practices and solutions, establish a strategic roadmap for sport and tourism, collaborate with other industry leaders and develop meaningful partnerships, etc...

Health & wellbeing

Sponsor and provide solutions for relaxation areas, exercise bikes to charge phones and tablets, permanent water bottles for all participants, and more.

Note that it is a non-exhaustive list of themes IUCN is looking to engage with potential partners. The Partnership programme and the content of packages remain flexible depending on your organisation's objectives.

IUCN recognises the crucial role the private sector plays in accelerating and scaling up solutions to address global environmental changes. Organisations are being confronted with a fast-moving world. On the one hand, long-term business viability and risk mitigation are heavily dependent on a healthy planet. On the other hand, mandatory climate and nature disclosures and reporting are becoming increasingly prevalent.

Held every 4 years, the IUCN World Conservation Congress provides the perfect platform for best-in-class businesses and enterprises to form symbiotic partnerships with IUCN and its Members, establish and amplify conservation efforts, and share innovative solutions that benefit both the global economy and local communities.

Over 5 days, the Exhibition of the Congress will be a giant marketplace combining the IUCN's unrivalled network, knowledge products and nature & science-based solutions with businesses' creativity in the view of shaping tomorrow's natural world and benefiting both the global economy and all societies in an equitable manner.

I sincerely invite all sectors – those who are directly reliant on healthy ecosystems and those looking to pave the way for a more sustainable future – to join us at IUCN World Conservation Congress 2025.

Director,
