

Species Journey

The IUCN Red List of Threatened Species

The Species Journey highlights how we compile the IUCN Red List of Threatened Species™ to assess the conservation status of species, and how we determine and analyze major threats. This journey will uncover the many ways the Red List informs the conservation activities of IUCN's members and partners: be it in the design of protected areas, the monitoring of trade, or in measuring the success of conservation projects. Through this journey, we aim to further engage members in "Red Listing" and increase the use of Red List information in conservation activities worldwide.

Together we will take a closer look at the latest results of the 2008 Red List, the infrastructure for collecting data, production of outputs, knowledge of volunteers, communication of species information, and the applications of the Red List.

We look forward to welcoming you at the Species Pavilion, the hub for all species and Red List conversations at the Congress.
